

Romany Theatre Company

Education Production 2015

Patron Norma Waterson

The Romany Theatre Company (RTC) presents its 2015 educational program, featuring a drama production & workshop tour. Together they explore the rich culture and history of the Romany people, and complement studies in English, drama, geography, and history. The play & workshop are performed and presented by educational professionals and Romany artists with recent experience in theatre, BBC Radio, and TV.

Tour dates: 27th April – 22nd May 2015

O’Romani Drom (The Romany Road) is a 30-minute drama that explores the extraordinary history and journey of the Romany people. From the exodus of musicians, dancers, storytellers, acrobats, herbalists and fortune tellers from India 2000 years ago and their migration to Europe and Gt. Britain, on to the plight of Romany people today. The story is told through drama, poetry and music, with songs performed in the Romani language.

The performance is followed by a workshop on Romany culture and heritage and a Q&A session.

“I would like to thank you all for the outstanding quality of your performance. You packed so much into it. It really helped to raise people’s awareness and develop their understanding of Roma communities.”

Jenny Patterson

(Team Leader for International New Arrivals, Travellers & Supplementary Schools) Manchester Children’s Service.
